Material

OCEAN is made of Eucalyptus with Bamboo. The fibers are products of nature and as with all natural products, a slight deviation in texture and colour may occur between dye lots.

Maintenance

These rugs have some specific features. One of them is the different colour effect that it presents, especially when it is a plain rug. Along the surface of the rug, slight variations of color occur (similar to what occurs with velvet), which gives a different effect which becomes more evident in lighter rugs. This does not constitute a defect; this is simply a characteristic of these cellulosic raw materials. During the first months it is normal that pilling may occur. This is not a manufacturing defect; it is another common characteristic of this type of fibers. The quantity of pilling will start diminishing after some weeks of use and it does not affect in any aspect the rug's resistance, aspect and quality. It is very important to vacuum the rugs often, in order to clean it and also to recover the pile, which might present some height differences due to high people traffic and wear. Vacuuming the rugs not only cleans it but it also helps to recover the pile and improve the quality of the rug. It is not advisable to use central vacuum or low power vacuums (it's recommended 1200W of power). It's also important that rugs are turned regularly, so that the effects caused by light and normal wear might be equivalent in the whole surface of the rug. When there is furniture placed on the rug exercising pressure, a rug protection can be used so it won't damage the pile and the overall look of the product.

Colour

Because of the nature of the quality each rug has its unique colour. The colour may differ and depend on each dye bath. Always avoid direct sunlight. Longer periods of exposure to direct sunlight will damage the rug and lead to discolouring.

Size deviation

Size deviations are up to about 3% possible. Because of the nature of this quality, this product can stretch a little bit.
